Hi Soledad,

Oh, in that case, I have already interviewed the press secretary for San Francisco Public Utilities Commission. I was just wondering if there was any representative from the EPA in the Bay Area who can comment on camera.

Thanks for the references too.

Ilene

Hi Ilene,

My name is Soledad Calvinio and I'm a press officer for U.S. EPA Region 9. I received your voicemail regarding the on-camera interview request. It sounded like you were actually looking for a comment from the City of San Francisco. I suggest reaching out to the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission directly for your request.

Here is a statement from U.S. EPA:

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has notified the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission that it has identified violations of the City and County of San Francisco's National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permits regulating discharges from the city's wastewater treatment plants, 36 combined sewer discharge facilities and its combined sewer system, based on inspections and field visits in 2015 and 2016, and subsequently gathered information, such as monitoring data. As the notice explains, the failure to properly operate and maintain the City's sewage collection and treatment facilities creates public health risks. For example, lack of proper operation and maintenance has caused force main and pump station failures that have diverted substantial volumes of raw and partially-treated sewage to flow across beaches and into the San Francisco Bay and the Pacific Ocean. EPA expects San Francisco to share its concern for the protection of public health and surface water resources and to address its ongoing Clean Water Act violations with significant and meaningful measures to ensure a prompt return to full compliance.
